

With resources on shielding, celebration and belief – It is relevant that the Christian connection of morning prayer ( Saint Patrick's Breastplate ) be mentioned. An Irish Christian may connect to the Lorica prayer. In Ireland, like all spaces there is different lifestyle approaches and viewpoints.

The Lorica prayer is an example for the baptised Christian and is also known as the Deer Cry – Purification and Divine Protection is a natural part of passage as there is energetic reinforcement in prayer. A seed mantra, in a similar way contributes to that process.

The Lorica prayer references the Positive belief-set and recognition that divine protection exists due to:

- The strengthening nature of – Christ & the Holy Trinity, Angels, the Cherubin, Prophets, Christian leaders and the face of love in fellow people in the Christian community.
- The world is with elemental forces.
- God is a central protector – in pilot, as guardianship, with spirit consciousness. The Shield is viewed as an omnipresent conversation ( putting on the armour of God or putting on the armour of Light ).

The Lorica reinforces belief around what is designated light and also that which is sought for protection to oppose perceived evil sources.

Not everyone celebrates Saint Paddy's Day and different views exist due to the nature of alignment and social values. It is significant to mention the prayer as it is an example of source vibration alignment for Divine Protection for that faith circle.
